ADRIEN DASILVA

PORTFOLIO 2026

In his compositions, Adrien Da Silva guides us to observe his environment: fields of color, networks of lines, and traversed spaces — all elements that nourish a narrative richness that is uniquely his own.
Adrien alternates between figurative and abstract representations, a way of shaping reality by juxtaposing it with his imagination.
From his works arise several interpretations of the same subject; they complement one another.
His work must be viewed from multiple angles in order to grasp it in its entirety. Adrien thus depicts scenes of life or landscapes evolving within a universe that symbolizes their own consciousness.
As the proportions develop in rhythm with his gesture, the lines multiply and ultimately synthesize the initial idea.
Nothing is static; everything is dynamic.

Stéréovision: This work embodies the youth of Bayonne in an original composition blending different planes, varied zoom levels, and multiple techniques. The colors were carefully selected in relation to local sport.

ColorsUp: Conceived and created in collaboration with CROUS students. This portrait naturally integrates into the site. It was designed as a point of identification for the young people who live there.

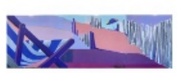

Parisienne: A foreground portrait of a woman wearing a hat, her gaze turned toward the future, set among the monuments and architecture of the city of Pantin. Her artistic presence, conceived as lasting, accompanies the residents of a neighborhood undergoing transformation.

Plein Sud 2: The horizontal format, conceived like a comic strip, allows for the development of a sequential narrative, ideal for accompanying movement along the banks of the Orb. Abstraction and figuration unfold in fluorescent colors, suggesting the saturation of beaches.

Cocktail: A geometric composition staging a figure turned toward the horizon. The image evokes life’s simple pleasures, such as drinking a cocktail by the beach while lying on the sand.

34 degrés: Located along the coastal road, this 43-meter panoramic format is designed for an immediate and striking reading. It offers a sample of the destination through a succession of emblematic objects.

Étang de l’or: The intervention on technical structures reveals the ability to transform functional elements into poetic visual signals. Water lies at the heart of the project, both through its colors and its representation, like a walk along the edge of the lagoon.

INDEX DESCRIPTIF DES ŒUVRES

Le temps libre: This composition explores the density of flows and daily trajectories within spaces of encounter. The line emphasizes the rhythm of users in a present in motion, capturing the vitality of exchanges at the heart of the urban fabric.

Paysage du nombre d’or: The work on the grid and horizontal lines allows a play with the awareness of space and volume. This graphic composition integrates into a vibrant reading, oscillating between abstraction and figuration.

Déconnectés: The composition captures a flow of workers caught in the mechanics of everyday life. The silhouettes move forward, burdened with duties, while the horizon calls elsewhere. In hollow, the city holds back those who dream only of free time by the sea.

Plein Sud – Saint Roch Social Club: This monumental mural addresses the effervescence of central circulation spaces. It places the human figure at the heart of an abstract narrative composed entirely in color.

Granholat: The narrative is rooted in the history of Graulhet, the former leather capital, born around its river. The superimposition of scales reveals the founding magic of this watercourse, the origin of activity and daily uses.

Raconte-moi Carnon: A visual that represents the identity of Carnon through its familiar signs. Different horizons, fishermen’s cabins, beach scenes, and boat movements reveal a mise en abyme of leisure time in Carnon.
